Principal makes major changes for 2000

By Elizabeth F.,
News Editor

Peacock middle school principal, Dr. Nickisch, explained several major changes in the building, activities and faculty for the upcoming 1999-2000 school year. As for improvements in the building, new display cases have been installed in the lobby, and all of the chalkboards have been replaced with erasable marker boards.

In the media center, there are new computers and chairs. Dr. Nickisch commented that he hoped that the teachers will use the new technology that the town and the school provided to make the education experience even better.

Dr. Nickisch purchased several colorful motivational banners that are on display throughout Peacock Junior High.

Media center keeps up with the times

By Izabela B.

Mrs. Bernahl, Peacock's media center director, recently explained that there have been a lot of great improvements made this summer. For example, Mrs. Bernahl orders new books for the library every year. This year's new books include a series called NET FORCE. It's about a group of whiz teenagers who sometimes know more about computers than their adult superiors.

They are the Net Force Explorers, and they fight crime on the Internet like no one else in the world. And that is just one example of the many new books purchased.

The media center also has five new high-speed computers, lots more software, and a new, high-speed black and white printer. Mrs. Bernahl also added a second multi-media car.
